

One of the Great Secrets of Good Housekeeping

is how to make the best showing and secure the greatest comfort for the money spent. Our mammoth store offers

FURNITURE OF ENDURING GOODNESS AT MODERATE PRICES,

and "pay for it when you like." Each piece is worthy and well made, and is extra good value.

WELLES "ODORLESS" REFRIGERATORS.

MARSTON & QUINA,
108-110 S. Palafox St. Phone 148. Pensacola, Fla.

INVITATION TO THE VETERAN

GENERAL YOUNG WANTS THEM
FOR HIS GUESTS IN LOUIS-VILLE.

The following notice has been issued:
Headquarters Florida Division, U. C. V. Live Oak, Fla., May 25, 1905.
Comrades: I had the pleasure of announcing at our Annual encampment in Ocala, in November last, the cordial invitation extended by General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, Ky., to the Florida Division to be his guest during the Reunion, and I take pleasure in repeating that invitation at this time. In his letter he says: "Say to all old Confederates in Florida who are willing to take rough and tumble entertainment with comfortable cots, good food and the necessary arrangements for ablutions, I shall be glad to have them as my guests during the Reunion of 1905. It may be a rough sort of hospitality but it will be cordial and sincere." Those who know Gen. Young know he means every word of this invitation.

He expects you and will be greatly disappointed if you do not answer to roll call at Louisville in June next.
Yours truly,
FRED. L. ROBERTSON.

Trolley Party!

...Under Auspices of...

Motormen and Conductors

TO FURNISH THEIR NEW HALL.

Wednesday, May 31
CHILDREN, 6 to 8. ADULTS, 8 to 11 p. m.
ADULTS, 25c. CHILDREN, 15c.

SEGARI'S Bath House

FRANK SIGARI, Prop.
Now open. Just one block from car line. Separate side for ladies and gentlemen. Open day and night. White public only. Refreshments at all times. Best place in the city.

If You Could

get a good Havana filled ten cents Cigar for five cents.

Would You Do It?

Of course you would. So would any sane man.
Then, why not?

Buy Little Minister Cigars for 5 cents.

It is truly a good, fragrant smoke, and one that is full of enjoyment.

Lewis Bear Co.

Agents.

BRADFORD'S CONVERSION

By CECILY ALLEN

Copyright, 1904, by E. A. Whitehead

"George Bradford, purchasing broker," read the girl, hesitating before the door. She extracted a tiny newspaper clipping from her purse and read it:

Wanted.—A stenographer; male preferred. 16 Exchange place. G. B.

With trepidation she opened the door and entered a small, unprepossessing office room.

"Good morning," said Bradford, rising and then sitting down abruptly. Business was business.

"Mr. Bradford?" asked the girl, handing him the clipping. "This is your advertisement, I believe."

"I—I had in mind a young man," began Bradford, obviously ill at ease. He had never associated with women, either socially or in business. In the latter capacity he had strongly disapproved of the sex; in the former—well, he was determined to make money first and love afterward.

"Yes, 'male preferred' is stated in your advertisement," acknowledged the girl, "but I wanted a position, my first one, very much, and—well, I've come to see if fate will be kind."

It was just like a girl to introduce such flimsy, uncertain elements as fate into business! And yet Bradford was not so prejudiced as he had been ten minutes before. He fancied the dingy office was brighter already. Then there was another consideration—women demanded smaller remuneration for their work, and this was still a matter of moment with Bradford.

"This—er—you say is your first position?" ventured Bradford, admitting unconsciously that the place was hers already.

The girl saw this, but was too tactful to give evidence of the fact. "Yes," she said. "I have just finished my course in stenography."

Bradford liked her soft, well modulated voice. It would sound well to his customers over the phone. A man's voice would not sound half so well.

"Office work is confusing," he suggested by way of discouraging her.

"Yes; but when a woman has to make her way in the world she puts on a smile and faces the worst," she replied, with just a suspicion of an accent on the last word and with an undeniably roguish twinkle in her eyes.

She could not quite cast aside the manner that had been her charm in the old life. Family fortunes may take wings and fly, but innate coquetry is not to be stifled by mere financial depression.

Bradford could not deny that her smile had individuality. He wondered why the women he had been forced to meet had never smiled in just that way. He never knew why, but he suddenly wished the office were cleaner. He would certainly speak to the woman who scrubbed and dusted in the building.

"And—about—about salary?" he asked awkwardly. It was all rot—this woman in business idea. They had no right there. He would have a man.

"A mirror!" Bradford sighed. This was only the beginning. But he was always glad when 9:30 arrived and sorry when closing time came. Business seemed to increase; he sent out so many letters. Miss Henderson was quick, and often she suggested little ideas for featuring goods he was advertising and quoting.

When she asked if she might have a box of flowers in the narrow window Bradford put his hands in his pockets and strode up and down the room. But she had her way, and soon a box of blooming nasturtiums gave the dingy room a cheerful aspect. Every morning before he was ready to give her his letters she watered them with a ridiculous little red watering pot.

Often times after Miss Henderson had left in the evening Bradford stood over the tiny flower bed and soliloquized. How different the office seemed! How bright and clean his desk always looked! How much the mirror added, and the clean towel, and—these flowers! They grew and bloomed happily under her care. What would not?

"Miss Henderson," began Bradford one afternoon when she was leaving early. "I am glad I added the word 'preferred' to my advertisement for a stenographer three months ago."

The girl looked surprised, but she was not.

"Yes?"

"If I had simply said 'male' you would never have ventured to apply." He twisted his penwiper—one she had made him—into an unsightly string.

"Yes?"

"I—I have never approved of women in business."

She put her hatpins in carefully, slowly. "No?" she intimated by an elevation of her brows.

"Nor—nor anywhere," he confessed. "I've always argued to the contrary."

"But argument does not prevail in anything which matters seriously," admitted the girl.

"And this matters seriously, Marjorie," he said, moving toward her. "It matters awfully. I have to have one in business and—everywhere. Will you let me have her? I know it isn't businesslike, but—I love you."

Marjorie Henderson looked at him squarely in the eyes. "And I prefer a partnership to a salaried position. You come to the house tonight, and we'll talk it over with mother. It need not be all business then."

Bradford had a little "want" advertisement framed above the desk in his private office today, right over her photograph, for the business has grown, and there are many clerks—but all "male preferred."

He felt like a cad talking to a woman about salary. What did she know of—about salary.

"I believe it is the employer's prerogative to name the salary," said the girl simply.

Bradford, after searching hopelessly in his mind for a combination of words and figures in which to adjust the financial end of the transaction, named the amount which he had had in mind when inserting the "ad."

"That will do very nicely," said the girl, rising. After all, this business life was not so hard; men were not so heartless.

"And your name?" asked Bradford. "Henderson—Marjorie Henderson," she said, smiling.

"And when will you come?" Bradford surprised himself at the way in which he let her suit her own convenience.

"That, too, is your prerogative," she replied, an odd little expression of deference in her eyes.

"Tomorrow? Is that too soon?" He had not expected to have his stenographer until the following week, but, after all, no doubt the sooner he had one the sooner his business letters would commence to bring good results.

"Very well, tomorrow. And at what hour?" This man had not told her anything of his demands upon his employees. She had fancied herself departing with a list of rules a page long, to all of which she must adhere rigidly.

"Oh, about 9:30," he said. He had decided when he had inserted the advertisement that he would get to business earlier and have his stenographer there with him. But—oh, well, women should not have to get down too soon. It was hard on them.

"I will be here at that hour, Mr. Bradford, thank you." And she closed the door.

Alone, Bradford lit a cigar and leaned back in his desk chair. What had he done? He had engaged a woman, a girl, as a stenographer! She would always be in the office. He could not swear; he wondered if he should smoke. Neither could he take off his coat and put his feet on his desk when he wanted to think things out and bring an unruly customer to time.

But the next morning found him eagerly waiting for 9:30. He could not tell why, but the appearance of a trim little tailor clad figure in the doorway made him glad.

"I—I may put my hat on your desk?" she asked, laying a neat felt hat on the top of his desk. She had only a flat table.

"Oh—oh, no," he said. "Let me—I say, we will have to have a hook over there above the washbowl. Yes, put it there." What a nuisance women were, he tried to convince himself. A woman's hat on a man's desk!

An atmosphere of strangeness, of embarrassment and awkwardness filled the tiny office all day, and yet Bradford did not look at the dirty, dingy elevated road for light as he had been accustomed. It was brighter in the office. He dictated his letters and was pleased to note their faultless pages, their neat arrangement, their workmanlike appearance. Perhaps, after all, a woman could learn to be businesslike.

"I will bring a little mirror and a towel and some soap in the morning, Mr. Bradford, if you don't mind," she said as she left. "Good night."

"A mirror!" Bradford sighed. This was only the beginning. But he was always glad when 9:30 arrived and sorry when closing time came. Business seemed to increase; he sent out so many letters. Miss Henderson was quick, and often she suggested little ideas for featuring goods he was advertising and quoting.

When she asked if she might have a box of flowers in the narrow window Bradford put his hands in his pockets and strode up and down the room. But she had her way, and soon a box of blooming nasturtiums gave the dingy room a cheerful aspect. Every morning before he was ready to give her his letters she watered them with a ridiculous little red watering pot.

Often times after Miss Henderson had left in the evening Bradford stood over the tiny flower bed and soliloquized. How different the office seemed! How bright and clean his desk always looked! How much the mirror added, and the clean towel, and—these flowers! They grew and bloomed happily under her care. What would not?

"Miss Henderson," began Bradford one afternoon when she was leaving early. "I am glad I added the word 'preferred' to my advertisement for a stenographer three months ago."

The girl looked surprised, but she was not.

"Yes?"

"If I had simply said 'male' you would never have ventured to apply." He twisted his penwiper—one she had made him—into an unsightly string.

"Yes?"

"I—I have never approved of women in business."

She put her hatpins in carefully, slowly. "No?" she intimated by an elevation of her brows.

"Nor—nor anywhere," he confessed. "I've always argued to the contrary."

"But argument does not prevail in anything which matters seriously," admitted the girl.

"And this matters seriously, Marjorie," he said, moving toward her. "It matters awfully. I have to have one in business and—everywhere. Will you let me have her? I know it isn't businesslike, but—I love you."

Marjorie Henderson looked at him squarely in the eyes. "And I prefer a partnership to a salaried position. You come to the house tonight, and we'll talk it over with mother. It need not be all business then."

Bradford had a little "want" advertisement framed above the desk in his private office today, right over her photograph, for the business has grown, and there are many clerks—but all "male preferred."

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the City Council at its meeting held on May 16th, 1905, selected the following Inspectors and Clerks of election to serve at the election to be held in the City of Pensacola, June 6th, 1905: Precinct 12, Inspectors—A. C. Binkley, F. F. Bingham, R. Pope Reese; Clerk, J. W. Coons.

Precinct 13, Inspectors—J. E. Wolf, R. P. Warrant, A. A. Fisher; Clerk, Frank Maura.

Precinct 14, Inspectors—W. J. Berry, H. Wolf, B. L. Gladden; Clerk, Joe Reed.

Precinct 15, Inspectors—J. D. Goss, Geo. P. Wentworth, Tom Nee; Clerk, John Massey.

That the following polling places have been selected to-wit:

Precinct 12—Corner Alcaniz and Intendencia streets.

Precinct 13—Corner Garden and Palafox streets.

Precinct 14—Corner Palafox and Romana streets.

Precinct 15—Corner DeVillier and Intendencia streets.

C. L. SHINE,
City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 5th day of June, 1905, application will be made to the Governor of the state of Florida for letters patent for charter of incorporation, a copy whereof is herewith and hereunder published.

F. C. BRENT.

C. M. COVINGTON.

C. W. LAMAR.

J. A. CHAFFIN.

J. C. AVERY.

We, F. C. Brent, C. M. Covington, C. W. Lamar, J. A. Chaffin and J. C. Avery, hereby make application for yetters patent incorporating us into a corporation in accordance with the laws of the State of Florida, under the following charter:

1. The name of the corporation shall be Pensacola and Northeastern Railroad Company, and its place of business Pensacola, Florida;

2. The general nature of the business shall be to build, own and operate a railroad, wharves, warehouses and steamship lines. The railroad which it is proposed to build, own and operate is to be constructed, maintained and operated through and from the City of Pensacola, in Escambia county, Florida, in a northerly direction to the Alabama State line, and to be about forty-five (45) miles in length, and pass through the said county of Escambia;

3. The amount of capital stock shall be Twenty-five Hundred Dollars ($2500.00), divided into twenty-five (25) shares of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, payable in lawful money of the United States;

4. The said corporation shall exist for ninety-nine (99) years;

5. The business of the company is to be conducted by a President, a Vice-President and a Secretary and Treasurer. The directors shall be elected annually at a meeting of the stockholders, on the last Monday in June, and the directors so elected shall elect on the same day a President, Vice-President and a Secretary and Treasurer. Until the first election F. C. Brent shall be President, C. M. Covington Vice-President and C. W. Lamar Secretary and Treasurer, and those persons, together with J. A. Chaffin and J. C. Avery, shall constitute the Board of Directors;

6. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation can at any time subject itself, is Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00);

7. The names and residences of the subscribers, and the amount of stock subscribed for by each, are as follows:

F. C. Brent, Pensacola, Florida, five shares.

C. M. Covington, Pensacola, Florida, five shares.

C. W. Lamar, Pensacola, Florida, five shares.

J. A. Chaffin, Pensacola, Florida, five shares.

J. C. Avery, Pensacola, Florida, five shares.

F. C. BRENT.
C. W. LAMAR.
C. M. COVINGTON.
J. A. CHAFFIN.
J. C. AVERY.

State of Florida, County of Escambia. Personally before the undersigned appeared F. C. Brent, C. M. Covington, C. W. Lamar, J. A. Chaffin, and J. C. Avery, each of whom acknowledged his signature to the foregoing instrument and that the same is his act and deed.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal this 4th day of May, A. D. 1905.

E. R. BURGOWNE,
Notary Public.
My commission expires Oct. 17, 1908.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Escambia County, State of Florida, wherein N. C. McMillan is plaintiff and R. W. Brooks is defendant, I have levied upon and will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash on the 5th day of June, A. D. 1905, during the legal hours of sale in front of the door of the county court house in and for Escambia County, Florida, and the following described property, to-wit:

(1) Turning Lathe, (1) Engine and Boiler, (1) Cross-Cut Saw, (1) Tool Chest and contents, (1) Boat, (1) ax, (2) Squares, (1) Hand Saw, (3) Circular Saws, Belting and Pulleys, (1) Lot Timber, (1) Perry and other stuff, the interest of R. W. Brooks.

J. C. VAN PELT,
Sheriff.

Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that we, the undersigned, shall apply to the Honorable C. B. Parkhill, Judge of the First Judicial Circuit of Florida, on Monday, the 29th day of May, A. D. 1905, at 10 a. m., or as soon thereafter as we may be heard, for a charter (not for profit) of incorporation of a religious society to be incorporated under the name of "First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Pensacola, Florida." The general object of said corporation is to establish and maintain a Christian Science Church at Pensacola, Florida, for ourselves and all others who may become members thereof in the manner prescribed by the Charter and the By-Laws to be enacted thereunder.

The membership of said Church to be composed of those who accept the "Bible" and "Science of Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, (with other works of its author) as their only text books. The proposed charter is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida, reference thereto being hereby had.

Signed at Pensacola, Florida, on the 28th day of April, A. D. 1905.

Kate McCord Smith, of Pensacola, Fla.; John F. Copersmith, of Pensacola, Fla.; James F. Parsons, of Pensacola, Fla.; Augusta H. Morrill, of Milvieu, Fla.; George A. Morrill, of Milvieu, Fla.; John W. Sindorf, of Bagdad, Fla.

april29oaw4w

NOTICE OF ATTACHMENT.

Notice is hereby given to E. M. Fraser and E. A. Fraser that a suit has been begun against them by attachment, by the Armour Packing Company, a corporation, in the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida; and they, and all other persons interested are required to appear to the said suit on Rule Day in July next and make such defense as they may have to the action. Geo. C. Douville, Attorney for Plaintiff. 11mchoaw14w

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court, Escambia County, State of Florida, wherein F. M. Wood is plaintiff and Robert Fillingim, Jr., is defendant, I have levied upon and will sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash on the 5th day of June, A. D. 1905, during the legal hours of sale in front of the door of the county court house in and for Escambia County, Florida, the following described property, to-wit: The northeast quarter of Section ten (10), township two (2) south of range thirty-two (32) West, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, and being in Escambia County, State of Florida.

J. C. VAN PELT,
Sheriff.

may5oaw4w

In Escambia County Circuit Court, State of Florida—in Chancery.

A. V. Caro et als, vs. Pensacola City Company, Sterritt Tate, Administrator and heir at law of the estate of Walter Tate, deceased, W. H. Davidson, Wm. E. Anderson, N. Thurston, W. H. Knowles, heir at law of Peter Knowles, R. T. Haines, W. A. Booth, C. H. Booth, W. R. Tomlinson, W. A. Shaw, E. C. Maxwell, John Maxwell and Walter Maxwell, heirs at law of A. E. Maxwell and C. C. Yonge and W. K. Hyer, Sr.

On Monday, the 7th day of August, A. D. 1905, the defendants, N. Thurston, W. A. Booth, C. H. Booth, W. R. Tomlinson, W. A. Shaw and Sterritt Tate, administrator and heir at law of the estate of Walter Tate, deceased, are required to appear to the bill filed against them herein.

This order to be published once each week for eight consecutive weeks in The Pensacola Journal, a newspaper published in said Escambia county, A. M. McMillan, Clerk Circuit Court. By L. G. Aymard, D. C. Pensacola, Fla., May 19, 1906.

20mayoaw8w

In Escambia County Circuit Court, State of Florida—in Chancery.

John B. Caro, Josepha C. Keyser, Theresa E. Kersey, born Caro, and Louisa E. Roberts, born Caro, vs. W. A. Booth, Pensacola City Company, W. H. Davidson, Sterritt Tate, Administrator and heir at law of Walter Tate, deceased, W. H. Knowles, heir at law of Peter Knowles, Louis Boley, Louisville and Nashville Railroad, successors of the Pensacola Railroad Company, a corporation, A. V. Chubb, C. B. Parkhill, Thos. C. Watson, W. E. Anderson, Alex. Stoddard, N. Thurston, Fannie E. Haines, Electra B. Richards, Josephine C. W. Terry, Van Bauga Livingston and Abida Booth.

On Monday, the 7th day of August, A. D. 1905, the defendants, Sterritt Tate, administrator and heir at law of Walter Tate, deceased, W. A. Booth, N. Thurston, Annie E. Haines, Electra B. Richards, Josephine C. W. Terry, Van Bauga Livingston and Abida Booth, and Alex. Stoddard are required to appear to the bill filed against them herein.

This order to be published once each week for eight consecutive weeks in The Pensacola Journal, a newspaper published in said Escambia county. A. M. McMillan, Clerk Circuit Court. By L. G. Aymard, D. C. Pensacola, Fla., May 19th, 1905.

may20oaw8w

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given of the intention of the undersigned to apply to the Honorable F. B. Carter, Judge of the Circuit Court, First Judicial Circuit, in and for the county of Escambia, State of Florida, on the 27th day of June, A. D. 1905, or as soon thereafter as the same may be heard, for a Charter of incorporation for the "Century Club," (a corporation not for profit), in accordance with the statutes in such cases made and provided.

The general nature of the object of said corporation shall be the cultivation of sociability, and the natural improvement of its members, intellectually and morally.

The proposed charter for said corporation is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida.

The names and residences of the subscribers are as follows:

A. W. Ranney, E. M. McBrearty, John R. Bradley, George C. Crannell, S. T. Tracy, all residents of Century, Escambia County, Fla.

may27oaw4w

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given of the intention of the undersigned to apply to the Honorable F. B. Carter, Judge of the Circuit Court, First Judicial Circuit, in and for the county of Escambia, State of Florida, on the 27th day of June, A. D. 1905, or as soon thereafter as the same may be heard, for a Charter of incorporation for the "Century Club," (a corporation not for profit), in accordance with the statutes in such cases made and provided.

The general nature of the object of said corporation shall be the cultivation of sociability, and the natural improvement of its members, intellectually and morally.

The proposed charter for said corporation is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida.

The names and residences of the subscribers are as follows:

A. W. Ranney, E. M. McBrearty, John R. Bradley, George C. Crannell, S. T. Tracy, all residents of Century, Escambia County, Fla.

may27oaw4w

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that we, the undersigned, shall apply to the Honorable C. B. Parkhill, Judge of the First Judicial Circuit of Florida, on Monday, the 29th day of May, A. D. 1905, at 10 a. m., or as soon thereafter as we may be heard, for a charter (not for profit) of incorporation of a religious society to be incorporated under the name of "First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Pensacola, Florida." The general object of said corporation is to establish and maintain a Christian Science Church at Pensacola, Florida, for ourselves and all others who may become members thereof in the manner prescribed by the Charter and the By-Laws to be enacted thereunder.

J. C. VAN PELT,
Sheriff.

Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that we, the undersigned, shall apply to the Honorable C. B. Parkhill, Judge of the First Judicial